

How the UKCAT is used by Consortium Universities

This document aims to provide an overview of how each consortium university uses the UKCAT in their admissions processes. We endeavour to provide up to date information directly copied from each consortium website on the date cited but cannot be held responsible for omissions, inaccuracies or changes. At this point in the year some information may still pertain to 2014 entry so we recommend you check the institution's website before making any decisions regarding your application for 2015 entry and we have provided web links to the source information.

A20	University of Aberdeen	A100	Medicine	Candidates' UKCAT scores are considered in our selection for interview but are not the sole indicator for selection. They are considered alongside actual and predicted academic achievement in deciding who will be selected for interview. A minimum UKCAT cut-off score is NOT used. C15	Cardiff University	A100	Medicine	There is no minimum score or threshold required for Cardiff in the UKCAT so no matter what you apply with, we will still consider your application. We only use the results of an applicant's UKCAT test if we are at the end of the process with two applicants in a "tiebreak" situation, at which point we may refer to the test results to make a decision. D86	University of Durham	A100	Medicine	The UKCAT threshold may differ in each admissions cycle as it is dependent on the scores achieved by those applicants who apply to our Medical School in the current cycle. Therefore information on what the threshold is, is not available to prospective students. However, you can view previous years' thresholds for information.	Website	17/09/14
E14	University of East Anglia	A100	Medicine	While we include consideration of your Cognitive UKCAT score within our selection process WE DO NOT HAVE A CUT OFF VALUE. However, from our experience, it is unusual for an applicant with a UKCAT score of less than 2400 to be invited to interview. Please note that for the 2015 entry admissions cycle, the SJT banding will not be used within the selection process.	Website	17/09/14
E14	University of East Anglia	A104	Medicine with a Foundation Year	We have not set a cut-off score for the UKCAT test. We will consider scores from the test within the academic screening processes in the School. Whilst a high UKCAT score could be advantageous a low score will not automatically disqualify a candidate from consideration. If the rest of the application is strong then the applicant could still be short-listed for interview with a lower UKCAT test score.	Website	17/09/14
E56	University of Edinburgh	A100	Medicine	All applicants need to sit the UK Clinical Aptitude Test (UKCAT) during the summer prior to application. We accept all UKCAT scores and have no minimum requirement. We also consider the Situational Judgement section of the UKCAT test separately.	Website	17/09/14

G28	University of Glasgow	A100	Medicine	The UKCAT results are an important part of the MBChB Admissions process. The incorporation of the UKCAT results into the admissions process is reviewed on an annual basis. For entry in September 2015 the Medical School will interview approximately 600 applicants. K60	King's College London	A101	Extended Medical Degree Programme (6 years)	For the Extended Medical Degree Programme (EMDP), the UKCAT is used contextually; test results are considered along with other factors. K60	King's College London	A102	Medicine Graduate/ Professional Entry Programme	Your UKCAT scores will be considered in our selection for interview. K60	King's College London	A202	Dentistry Graduate/ Professional Entry Prog (4yr)	Please note that all applicants applying in 2014 for 2015 (or deferred 2016 entry) for the A202 Dentistry Graduate/Professional Entry Programme are required to sit the UKCAT aptitude test in the summer of 2014, prior to applying to the BDS degree. K60	King's College London	A205	Dentistry (5 years)	Your UKCAT scores will be considered in our selection for interview. They will not be the sole indicator for selection, but will be balanced against achievement in other areas, in particular your academic performance to date. All indicators will be considered together in deciding who will be selected for interview. It is therefore important to understand that there is no universal 'cut off' score for the UKCAT when applying for 2013 entry. For example, if an applicant has an excellent academic background then the test scores will not play such a significant part in selection. For those with weaker academic backgrounds (relative to our overall applicant pool), the scores will become more important. An applicant who may not normally be considered on academic grounds could be invited to interview on the strength of strong UKCAT scores that may indicate potential. Also, if applicants are very similar in all other ways, the scores may be the determining factor in selection for interview.	Website	17/09/14

L34	University of Leicester	A100	Medicine	Early results suggest that this year's UKCAT scores will be, on average, lower than last year's. M20	University of Manchester	A104	Medicine (6 years including foundation year)	Last year for 2014 entry, we considered non-academic criteria before applying a UKCAT threshold. For 2015 entry this has changed; applications that do not meet the UKCAT threshold chosen will not progress to the next phase of the screening process and will receive notification that their application has been unsuccessful through UCAS in due course. Course A104 To help identify talented students from all backgrounds, UKCAT scores from UK candidates who come from similar educational and socio-demographic backgrounds are considered against each other. This is done by using supplemental information provided by publicly available datasets (see www.manchester.ac.uk/contextualdata). Equal proportions of top scoring applicants from each group are then selected for interview. One of the aims of the foundation year in medicine is to widen participation. With this in mind, applicants with a contextual data flag who meet our academic and non-academic criteria, and whose UKCAT score is below our threshold, will be given additional consideration and may be invited for an interview. We anticipate that the number of applicants that this applies to will be low. The following table gives the range of UKCAT scores for applicants who are being invited to interview this year, and who were invited to interview for the previous three years. N84	University of Nottingham	A108	Medicine with a Foundation Year	We don't have a threshold score for UKCAT. We use it as part of the selection for interview as outlined below. When you have taken the UKCAT test you will receive a total score and a score for each of the five components of the test. We give an internal score to each of the five scores. These are then totalled and added to the score given for your highest 6 GCSE's and your additional criteria. The top 50% of students are then considered further.	Website	18/09/14

S18	University of Sheffield	A200	Dentistry	We do not have a cut-off score for the UKCAT and no applicants are excluded from the selection procedure due to a low score. The test result is used in combination with the other academic criteria and a high score may compensate for weaker GCSE grades. The score may also be used at the end of the selection procedure to differentiate between applicants who are equal in all other criteria.	Website	24/09/14
S27	University of Southampton	A100	Medicine (5 year)	The Faculty of Medicine will use a UKCAT cut-off score for applications to the BM5 (A100) and BM4 (A101) programmes. All applicants to BM4 and BM5 programmes must score 2500 or above in the UKCAT exam in order for their application to be considered further. The Faculty of Medicine will then be ranking applicants by UKCAT score and a certain percentage will be invited to attend a selection day.	Website	24/09/14

S27	University of Southampton	A102	Medicine – Widening access (6 yr) incl Fdn Yr 0	A cut-off score does not apply to the BM6 (A102) programme, but the UKCAT score will continue to be used alongside all other information as part of the BM6 selection process.	Website	24/09/14
S36	University of St Andrews	A100	Medicine	We have a limited number of interview places (around 400). To be called to interview applicants must have a strong reference and relevant, medically related work experience (see Qualities and Experience). Following assessment of personal statement and reference, suitable applicants will be ranked for interview on the basis of their academic performance and their UKCAT global score. Those ranked in the top 400 or so will be given an interview. The UKCAT SJT score will contribute to the interview score and decisions to make offers will be based on that combined score. The UKCAT test can vary each year. The overall average for those who sat the test in the summer of 2013 (applying for 2014 entry) was higher than the previous year. For 2013 entry the average UKCAT for those given an offer for a medical place at St Andrews was 2740 and for 2014 entry the average for those given an offer was 2963. We cannot judge what the UKCAT scores for our applicants will be for 2015 entry. In November 2014 we will be given the results of those who have applied to St Andrews and at that time the overall average for all who sat the test in 2014 will be published. Only once we have assessed our applications will we know what the likely UKCAT scores will be for those to be called for interview. This may well be quite a long time into the admissions cycle. We are not able to advise a likely UKCAT score for interview at this stage.	Website	24/09/14

S49	St George's, University of London	A100	Medicine	Score (each individual section): 500 in each section or above + Overall test score: We will receive the UKCAT results for 2015 entry in November 2014 and at that time will confirm the minimum overall score required to be selected for interview. We will not be using the SJT section of the test. Additional Information: UKCAT results are used to select students for interview and to rank our post-interview waiting list.	Website
S49	St George's, University of London	A900	Medicine (International)	A minimum score of 500 in each of the four sections.	Website
W20	Warwick University Graduate Entry	A101	Medicine MBChB Graduate Entry	We will not be considering the Situational Judgement section of the test for 2015 entry. Candidates without a PhD and scoring less than 2700 are unlikely to be invited to Selection Centre. Candidates with an undergraduate degree and no additional postgraduate qualifications scoring above 3000 are usually offered a place at Selection Centre, but it depends on the overall UKCAT performance of our applicants that year.
